

Cervical Barrier Methods

www.cervicalbarriers.org

Cervical barriers (diaphragms and cervical caps) are safe and effective woman-controlled contraceptives that prevent pregnancy by covering the cervix. Research is underway to see if they can also protect women against HIV and other sexually transmitted infections. Visit our website to find out about these methods and their availability.